The California State Council on Developmental Disabilities would like to invite all interested Bay Area disability stakeholders to a virtual community conversation on improving family engagement and employment outcomes for persons with disabilities. This is an excellent opportunity to share your great ideas and to help shape training and policy moving forward.

Far too many individuals with disabilities have limited access to competitive employment opportunities. Families want to play a role in the employment success of their loved one, but don't always have good information on how to play that role. This virtual community conversation will bring together a diverse set of Bay Area stakeholders to brainstorm and harvest the best ideas on how to address these needs.

This community conversation is sponsored by the California State Council on Developmental Disabilities and will be facilitated by Sean Roy and Sara Murphy of TransCen, Inc.
